ABRAHAM LINCOLN

YESTERDAY was celebrated by the nation as the birthday of one of America's greatest sons. Abraham Lincoln is known to the world, not only as one of the greatest men of history, but as a type—the epitome of the characteristics which made the American nation the dominant nation of the new world. Lincoln was typical of American democracy, the rail splitter in the president's chair—the man predominant and superior to the official position. Lincoln is known to the world as he is to us, not so much for having risen from poverty to the commanding position, marvelous as that was, but from the fact that he remained a man despite his change in position.

Many nations boast of men as great probably in their official capacities as our Lincoln, rulers who have been the saviors of nations in crises as strategic as was ours. But no where we believe can be found a man occupying the position of state occupied by the Great Emancipator who has kept so intimately the human element which has so distinguished Lincoln.

History alone would immortalize Lincoln, but it is not so much to history as to the homely country traditions, little stories of kindnesses done, and thoughtful courtesies bestowed, which have made Lincoln the idol of the nation. We honor Lincoln as the commander in chief who brought this country successfully through the great schism of civil war, but we love the big lanky country boy who dared to remain just that while he directed the destinies of the nation.

BOY SCOUT WEEK

CAPTAIN DUNCAN MATHESON is authority for the statement that there is not a single Boy Scout in any penal institution in California, this despite the general increase of crime among the boys of school age during the past few years.

The Boy Scout organization is performing a work among the boys of the nation which entitles it to a place in our scheme of things next to the public school. In fact the Boy Scouts are able to do what the schools alone can not do, for the boy in joining the Boy Scout feels the honor which has been conferred upon him, and he is more disposed to endeavor to merit that honor than to absorb the training of the school which is more or less compulsory.

The Boy Scout organization builds manhood, fosters self reliance and develops the idea of service. These qualities are the foundation of good citizenship, and any organization which develops them deserves the support of the public. This support is being solicited this week in a very material way by the Scouts of this county, who need $4000 to carry on their work for the coming year. This amount, when it is considered that it is for the whole Boy Scout organization of the county, and when thought is given to the multifarious ways in which this organization and its various ramifications is serving the best interests of the county, state and nation in developing a large number of boys in the ideals of true citizenship, seems surprisingly small. But we are assured that with this amount in hand that the Boy Scouts of San Mateo county, will not only be able to carry on their present work, but will be able to enlarge their sphere of activities, and will be able to function for the next year without any other public appeal.

The Boy Scouts deserve the support of the public. Let's all help.

APPLIES FOR LETTERS

The Bank of California National has applied in the Superior court for letters of administration upon the estate of Glen Elroy McCarthy, who died at San Mateo on January 26, 1926. The estate comprising real estate and personal property is valued in excess of $10,000. The heirs at law are the widow, Mrs. Helen Kearney McCarthy and two minor children. The widow relinquishes her right to administer upon the estate.

FRANK K. TOWNE TO ADDRESS HILY BOYS
At the meeting of the Hily Boys at the Methodist church next Monday evening Frank K. Towne will talk to the boys on "The Opportunities for Young Men in the Banking and Business World." There will also be brief reports from those who were in attendance at the "Older Boys' Conference."

In the city of New York there are nearly 50,000 telephone public pay stations.

DRIVERS WARNED AS TO RESPONSIBILITY

A great increase in the number of rear-end collisions due to wet pavements resulted in the issuing of a warning this week by George E. Sanford, general attorney for the California State Automobile Association calling attention to the need for greater care in driving in wet weather.

"Even though the law specifies that a driver about to stop his car should give a signal 50 feet before he intends to come to a stop," said Sanford, "this does not relieve the motorist following him from the responsibility to keep his car always in such control that he can stop without hitting the car in front, should the car in front be compelled to stop suddenly without signal to avoid accident."

"A great number of cases of this kind have come to our attention during the recent storm. For instance, a driver passing between a safety zone and the sidewalk the other night had to stop his car very suddenly to avoid hitting a pedestrian who darted from the sidewalk to reach a street car. The car immediately behind bumped into the car that stopped, breaking lamps. The driver of the car behind blamed the driver of the car ahead for stopping so suddenly and failing to give a signal."

As a matter of fact the driver of the car ahead had no time to give a signal. He had to act quickly to avoid an accident. He stopped his car as quickly as he could. The driver of the car behind was going too fast and driving too close behind to do likewise. He had no redress. The accident was his fault.

"No matter what the law says about the obligation of a driver to give a signal, the driver behind is not relieved of the necessity for careful driving and of the obligation to take into account the condition of the street and the traffic, and he should always drive at such speed and far enough behind so he can stop his car without hitting the fellow ahead if something goes wrong."

40 YEARS AGO

Feb. 13, 1886

Items very scarce this week. Rain and storm the severest of many years. Grain growing finely.

It threatened a flood last Saturday, but the creek went back (or rather down) on its premises. The Episcopal church property is being bulkheaded on the creek side under the energetic supervision of Warden Crowe.

Dr. Gamble did an interesting little bit of artesian sinking in the chest of a dropsical patient last Wednesday, taking away fully a quart of cherry-colored fluid that must have been so decidedly uncomfortable that the patient could scarcely have thought the doctor's boring a "bore."

On Saturday the chief center of interest was the high water on Main street. Mr. Weishaar had filled in front of his place, and as a consequence the water was backed up in front of the drug store and the hotel. On Saturday night Roadmaster Stanley cut a ditch through the obstruction to let the water out. When the waters were at the highest a small boy fell into the ditch and but for the timely assistance of those near he would have drowned.

Last week Mr. M. Baker, a brother-in-law of Mr. S. Chroner, came from San Francisco to visit Mr. and Mrs. Chroner. He and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Cook, with Mr. Chroner's fast horse and buggy, started for a ride toward Woodside. The roads being in so bad a condition the harness and the buggy were broken on the grade near Woodside, and both occupants obliged to walk home.

Part of the wooden sidewalk-awning in front of the vacant brick stores next to Mrs. Hurd's on Main street gave way last Thursday evening, the wood evidently having rotted around the screws which held it to the iron hangers.

An Agent of Activity

IN the one hundred and fifty years that have passed since the birth of the nation, the area of the United States has grown from the narrow strip of territory along the Atlantic seaboard to a domain of 3,000,000 square miles.

There is nothing comparable in the world to the varied and continuous activity in this vast area. The United States leads every nation in the world in industry, agriculture, and commerce,—in the output of its mines, the products of its forests, the crops of its soil, the goods of its factories, the volume of its trade.

It also leads in communications agencies for the rapid and dependable interchange of thought. Two-thirds of the world's telephones are today in the country's homes, offices, and factories. Fifty million times daily the wires that interconnect them are used for the transaction of the nation's business.

TELEPHONES AND AUTOS BIG AID TO NEWSPAPERS

Rapid Communication Facilities Have Made Possible Modern Form of Journalism

Two factors—the telephone and the automobile—are responsible for the modern newspaper being able to cut its time from hours to minutes and sometimes to seconds. Of the two, the telephone is the more generally used, for a newspaper without telephones would be helpless in a race with its competitors.

In days of old the reporter had to rely upon his legs, a street car or a horse and buggy in order to get to the scenes of an important news event. Under such circumstances it often required several hours to cover one single ordinary assignment. Nowadays, the telephone, both the local and long distance service, enables newspapers to keep in touch with every news event, large or small, with every news source. Reporters in the district they serve. Reporters out on an assignment can keep in communication with the city desk and, in fact, in large cities many reporters who never write a word of newspaper copy are stationed in various sections, where by means of the telephone they are in instant touch with their office, and on the other hand, are close by any big news event that might break. When such an event does occur, the facts are at once telephoned to the main office and the story is written and set up in type there while the reporter is still at the scene of the fire, murder, accident or whatever event it may have been.

It is this medium of instant contact that enables the modern newspaper to hold its place against strenuous competition. An average of approximately sixty-seven million telephone conversations take place in the United States daily.

Cleaning Without Odor by the

F. Thomas Process

Our many years of experience has taught us that it is impossible to perfect cleaning with cheap, inferior methods. That is why we found it necessary to invest nearly $500,000 in the equipment of a plant and the establishment of an expert organization to do the quality of work demanded by our customers.

With the "F. Thomas Process" we not only remove every particle of dust but we return your garments without that usual disagreeable smell of gasoline. Every drop of gasoline we use in cleaning is rectified and very highly refined.

Raw gasoline—the kind that you buy for your automobile—is full of heavy oils and unfit for cleaning fabrics. It is little better than ordinary kerosene and leaves a sickening gasoline smell in your clothes.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

At six o'clock yesterday morning, Mrs. Margaret Dundon, widow of the late P. F. Dundon, passed peacefully to eternal rest surrounded by her loved ones. Mrs. Dundon resided in Menlo Park for many years with her daughter, Mrs. David Buckley, formerly living in San Francisco, where the greater portion of her life was passed. She was born in Dublin, Ireland, and came to America as a young girl. Her husband, P. F. Dundon, was the well-known bridge builder who put in nearly all the big piers in the San Francisco water front. He enjoyed a national reputation as a bridge builder. Mrs. Dundon was a true Christian woman, a devoted Catholic who attended mass every morning and was a daily communicant. Although quite feeble and ill, she attended church every day last week, keeping up her holy practice of her religion until the end, knowing that her reward for her faithfulness would come at the close of her long and useful life. When the final summons came she was prepared and ready to go. Her last moments were peaceful and happy and consoling and inspiring to the loved ones about her bedside. She calmly closed her eyes to be opened again in the world beyond, there to behold the splendors and glory of Heaven, a place which she earned by her faith and loyalty to Him she loved tenderly and served so well.

The funeral of the good woman will take place from the Church of Nativity Monday at 10:30 a. m. and interment is to be in Holy Cross cemetery. Mrs. Dundon is survived by two daughters, Mrs. David Buckley of Menlo Park and Mrs. Stafford, wife of Dr. David Stafford of San Francisco.

The Native Sons and Daughters of Menlo Park will give a card party in Duff and Doyle hall on Monday evening for the benefit of the homeless children. Thirty prizes, all valuable, will be awarded to the winners. These prizes are well worth contending for. Come and try for one and at the same time help a worthy cause.

The committee in charge of the St. Patrick's day celebration is working hard to give the best performance ever taken place in Menlo Park. The St. Patrick's day entertainment, which occurs annually, are looked forward to with interest by all as the performance is usually first class. This year the program is to eclipse anything ever attempted here. It will be made up of artists from San Francisco, San Mateo, Redwood City and Menlo Park. Tickets are now being distributed. Secure one before they are all disposed of.

J. B. Feils, night patrol man for the City of Atherton, has announced his candidacy for the office of constable of the Third township, the election to take place in August. Mr. Feils has lived in the district nearly all his life.

Walter M. Castle, who passed away in San Francisco Monday, was well known here as a young man. His father at that time owning the E. W. Hopkins home. Mr. Castle was engaged in the mercantile grocery business for many years. He was seventy years old at the time of his demise.

Judge Buck on Thursday last confirmed the sale of the Nelson property on the highway near Menlo Park to J. E. Engle for $10,050. This is at the rate of $100 a front foot. It is believed that Mr. Engle has bought the property for Thot Brothers of Palo Alto. The sale was negotiated by Miss Noel, the local realty broker. Mrs. Nelson will, in a few days, remove to her former home in San Mateo.

Last Sunday William Kinlen was found dead in a chair at his apartment in town. The inquest on Monday showed that he was suffering from double pneumonia. The deceased had lived here for the past year doing laboring work. He was known as "Rodeo Bill," having been a cow boy in his younger years.

SINGING NEWS BOY TO

PLY HIS STUNTS HERE

Max W. Stauffer, known through out the length and breadth of the land as "the singing newsboy," will strike Redwood City on his way from Portland, Oregon, to New York, and will play his peculiar trade at the Sequoia Theatre next Friday night, February 19.

Stauffer is traveling "on his voice." He has made several trips across the continent, the present one being made in a dressed-up flyover. Four years ago he discovered his voice while selling newspapers in Los Angeles and since then has capitalized it in many of the cities of the country. Two years ago he accompanied the Shriners from Portland to the Washington convention, where he sang at the capital and for a number of radio broadcasting stations.

Mrs. Bissel of Modesto spent the week with her son, Roy and family of this city. She returned to her home in the valley on Thursday.

Officers were appointed as follows: President, Alfred Weber; vice president, C. H. Steere; second vice president, Paul Boyer; secretary, Mrs. M. L. Christensen; treasurer, Dr. E. R. Tait.

Mr. Weber, president, appointed his own advisory board composed of Fred Reynolds, chairman; and John Simpkins, C. E. Jordan, George Cleave, Leonard Brown, Alfred Weber, C. H. Steere, Paul Boyer.

By-law committee, Dr. E. R. Tait, C. H. Steere, Charles Hill, Manuel Piers, A. Sonnickson.

The latest news in the development of the peninsula is that Redwood City is to have a free port. This bit of interesting information comes from Washington. That locality will soon witness a big boom and it may have already started for during the week have been in that vicinity seeking to up all the real estate in contracts. It is said big prices are being offered for land. A big sale there will soon be consummated involving nearly a half million dollars.

Duncan Nichol, who before Volstead made his debut in wet clinics, conducted the Bank Exchange in San Francisco and who was famous as the dispenser of the Placo punch, died last Tuesday. Shortly before his death he was a partner of Victor Dupont of Menlo Park who attended the funeral obsequies on Thursday.

Ambrose Bierce matched wits with him, for Duncan, with his pince-nez hanging up his ear could discourse on arts and letters with the best.

The Placo punch, base of Nichol's noted comedy, across the Andes on the backs of llamas and was imported direct from the Chilean coast by the pioneer proprietor.

Woodside Notes

An announcer over radio K. P. O.

referred a short time ago to Woodside as a suburb of Los Angeles. He has, since that time, been better informed, but had he been here this week he might have reasoned that we were first cousin to Hollywood. The same film production company that spent a week at Van Byrnes' place has been much in evidence about the group of buildings that mark the entrance to Woodside at the top of the grade, affectionately known as "Whiskey Hill." The taking of pictures has proved quite as entertaining to our population as the showing of them and every foot-loose member of the community was present on the side lines and many a white-haired lady hoped that something might occur that would cause her to be drafted into the picture.

Neuman Bros. have added lumber to their already very general business and a considerable lumber yard is developing close to their general store.

Carl Anderson and family took advantage of the few days of clear weather to complete their moving operations and are now at home in Woodside. Mr. Anderson is being visited by his mother, Mrs. Anna Anderson from Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Mighall were guests at the Shriners' theatre party in San Francisco on Monday night.

Arlo Castle, formerly an employee of Neuman Bros., has moved to Los Angeles.

Lincoln's birthday was celebrated at the local school with an appropriate program of patriotic songs and recitations.

St. Valentine has grown in popularity and the arrival of his day is hailed by the youngsters with an enthusiasm second only to Christmas and Thanksgiving.

The telephone company has had a force of men at work here this week rejuvenating the telephone service.

Miss Phyllis Kroeck is spending the winter with her aunt, Mrs. Jos. L. Kroeck, while her mother, Mrs. Philip Kroeck, is in San Francisco.

Prof. Anderson is now driving the high school bus which starts from Woodside, giving the children who go from here a choice of seats.
